TOLEDO CLUB FIEND - QUIET WHILE ARMED POLICE WATCH CITY

No New Attacks Are Made
Sunday Night By Club
User

Toledo, Nov. 23.—Toledo's terror-stricken woman population breathed easier today following a night which for the first time in a week, was not marked by activities of a club wielding fiend who has struck down nine women, one of whom was found dead and the second so badly beaten she died.

Five hundred armed police patrolled the city last night, determined to capture the man who appears from the darkness, brings his club down on the heads of his women victims and flees.

Apparently fearing capture, the club wielder remained under cover last night, but still more stringent precautionary measures will be taken tonight by police who believe the man may strike again.

Authorities believe the man is a maniac who escaped from some state institution for the criminally insane.

The man's ninth victim was Miss Louie Brown, who was seized, and then knocked into insensibility with the club.

The fiend is described as a tall, heavily built man with bloodshot, maniacal eyes. He cries inarticulately as he wields the club.

Twelve men have been taken into custody as suspects, but all of them probably will be liberated, police said.

Terror among the women populace became still more widespread when it was reported that the man perched on the roof of a house Saturday at midnight, uttered a hideous cry and fired a gun.

Those who said they saw him, said the man jumped from the roof and vanished before the onlookers had recovered from the shock. The man's first victim was found between two houses, her body horribly mutilated.

A second victim died, and four of the remaining seven are in a critical condition.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 23.—Joseph F. Coffey, the fastest engineer on the Big Four railroad has added another record to his list.

Leaving Columbus 50 minutes late, Coffey brought his train into Cleveland in 125 minutes, an average of more than a mile a minute for the 135 miles, company officials said today.

Coffey has been in the service 33 years. For 14 years he has been at the throttle of passenger trains. He is considered one of the safest engineers on the road.

Peaches and Apple of Discord

JEAN NASH & PEGGY JOYCE

Paris is wondering if Peggy Hopkins Joyce, of stage fame, will be the bride of the Marquis Medici as soon as she secures a divorce from Count Morner. Mrs. Jean Nash, "best dressed woman in the world," has issued invitations to a champagne party to celebrate the breaking of her engagement to the Marquis.

RHINELANDER COUNSEL DEFIES DEFENSE TO PRODUCE LETTERS

Move To Declare Mis-trial—Plaintiff Willing to Have Letters Introduced And Women Asked To Leave Court Room

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Counsel for Leonard Kip Rhinelander today defied Lee Parsons Davis, attorney for the former Alice Jones, to "do his worst" in the annulment suit brought by the young aristocrat.

As soon as Isaac N. Mills, chief counsel for Rhinelander, had issued the deft, Davis asked for and was granted an adjournment of a few minutes to decide whether to move that a mis-trial be declared.

Rhinelander is asking annulment of his marriage on the ground that Alice, the daughter of a negro cabman, deceived him as to her color. The challenge to "do your worst" is believed to refer to two letters written by Rhinelander to Alice which are reported to reveal the character of Rhinelander in a new light.

PROPOSE MEMORIAL TO SHENANDOAH DEAD

Columbus, Nov. 23.—A movement to erect a memorial to the heroic dead of the navy dirigible Shenandoah, killed when the giant ship fell near Ava, Ohio, was underway today.

James P. Slattery, Youngstown, was leading the campaign and said it had received the endorsement of Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the dirigible.

Mrs. Lansdowne wrote the following to Slattery:

"I deeply appreciate your sympathy and interest and assure you that I would be only too happy to sanction the erection of a memorial from the people of America, as you suggest."

"I feel it would be a most beautiful tribute to our heroic dead who died so bravely on the bridge of their ship."

Slattery has suggested that each city's American Legion appoint a committee to collect contributions and send them to Mrs. Lansdowne, in Washington. The place where the Memorial would be erected will not be decided upon until the movement takes definite shape, Slattery said.

STEAMER AGROUND OFF CUBAN COAST

Boston, Nov. 25.—An S. O. S. picked up by the Tropical Radio Company here today stated that the steamer Sushierico had gone aground on Materrillos Point, Nuevas, Cuba.

The message said that the Sushierico, a freighter, was pounding slightly and ask that Lloyds Agency at Havana send assistance and lighters.

The Sushierico, owned and operated by the Trans-Marine Company, was en route from Colon, Panama, to New York, when she went aground.

The freighter runs between the Canal Zone, New York and West Coast ports.

FAILURE OF FINANCE PROJECT RESULTS IN CABINET RESIGNING

Herriot, Briand and Others
Suggested To Form
New Body

Paris, Nov. 23.—The Painleve cabinet, tottering ever since its re-birth a few short weeks ago, has fallen and France is in a deep quandary today as to the selection of its successor.

The strong man who shall lead France out of her tangled and increasingly desperate financial situation has failed to appear so far. A few names are discussed timidly among politicians but upon none has sentiment yet crystallized.

Foreign Minister Briand, who is favorably regarded for his Locarno accomplishments and for his general political ability, is suggested by some as possessing the qualifications to head the next cabinet. Other quarters venture the suggestion that Herriot come back to power, though he failed before to solve the financial problem. Still others mentioned are Senator Doumer, a recognized financial authority and Louis Locheur, economy expert.

The cabinet resigned Sunday after the chamber by 278 to 276 had defeated Article V of the Painleve finance project. This article foresaw a consolidation of short term National bonds, or in lay language a postponement of payment on about forty million francs worth of these holdings which are liberally held by all ranks of the French. Earlier in the day there had been a vote favorable to the cabinet on this point, but a switch of communist votes turned the 2 majority for the cabinet on the first vote into a minority of three on the succeeding test.

Painleve took the decision dramatically. He stood calmly waiting the voting announcement and when President Herriot of the chamber announced it stalked out of the chamber with the ministers trailing him while the socialists yelled "Vive La Republique" and the opposition retorted with "Vive La France."

The chamber was in an uproar and adjourned until Tuesday. Meantime Painleve and his ministers drafted their letter of resignation which was accepted by President Doumergue.

THREE INJURED IN CRASH AT CROSSING

Sandusky, O., Nov. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Emory Bird and John Dudley of Mansfield, are seriously injured in hospital here as a result of a grade crossing accident last night. Dudley waited for a New York Central freight train to pass, but failed to get the watchman's signal and drove his automobile in front of a locomotive going in the same direction.

Mrs. Dudley and her eight-year-old daughter, Frieda, were uninjured. Mrs. Bird has a broken leg and the condition of the men, injured internally, is reported to be critical.

LOGAN GAS HEARING IN ADJOURNMENT

Columbus, O., Nov. 23.—With hearings before the Public Utilities Commission adjourned until January 5, the Logan Gas Company today was issuing statements tending to support its two new rate schedules and denying that the valuation of the company had been fixed for rate making purposes.

The statement issued by K. C. Krick, vice president of the company denied charges of "padding" and charges of duplicated values on the company's ledgers.

LEWIS ASKS GOVERNMENT FOR INTERVENTION IN COAL DISPUTE

New York, Nov. 23.—Requesting in a letter to President Coolidge, that the government intervene in the bituminous coal fields, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, involved every union coal miner in the country in a wage controversy.

The anthracite miners are already on strike and Lewis letter brings up the matter of conditions in the bituminous fields.

Lewis charged that various producers of soft coal were violating and repudiating the Jacksonville wage agreement, which continued wartime-wages and working conditions in the union soft coal fields of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia for three years from April 1, 1924.

In his letter Lewis further asks the President whether, if federal intervention is denied, the miners may not believe "that their own efforts in that direction may be considered as justified?"

Lewis refused to explain this question.

Members of the anthracite operators conference said today they regarded the Lewis letter as clarifying a dual situation existing from the outset of the present anthracite controversy.

Ellis Searls, personal representative of Lewis and editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, said in a speech in a Richmond Hill Church forum last night that the miners union never would accept arbitration or abandon the right to strike.

EDWARD M. SMITH, 66, EX-CHIEF OF POLICE, IS CALLED BY DEATH

Former Officer Had Reputation In Work—Dies Monday

Former Chief of Police Edward M. Smith, 66, for thirty years a member of the Xenia Police Department and known widely because of his ability in police work, died at his home, 418 West Market Street, at 2 o'clock Monday morning.

Death followed a long illness, his condition having been serious for the last two years. A complication of diseases was the cause of death, hardening of the arteries and paralysis contributing to his condition.

Mr. Smith was chief of the police department about fifteen years, following a long period as patrolman on the department, and was succeeded by James M. Canady, who resigned five years ago to be succeeded by M. E. Graham, present chief. During his long period in police work he attained considerable reputation as a terror to criminal classes and figured in many interesting episodes of police history.

Born in Xenia, June 3, 1859, the ex-police chief was the son of Adam L. Smith, who came to this country from Edinburgh, Scotland, and Sarah Gano Smith. He attended the public schools here when Professor Ormsby was superintendent. As a youth he was employed in the Rader brick yard and later worked in the Bradley flax mill which was located where the Eavey Company wholesale grocery is now situated.

He resigned his position there to become associated with Collins, Connable and Trader in the foundry business, learning the trade of molder and later becoming foreman of the industry. He became a member of the Police Department in the fall of 1884 but resigned after a few months to return to the foundry until that business was permanently closed here. He then returned to the department in 1885 under Chief E. S. Nichols. Successively then he worked under Chief Nichols, Chief Norman S. Tiffany and Chief S. K. Harner.

When Chief Smith ascended to charge of the department, there were but five men on the force, the lowest it had been until that time. An interesting feature of his early history was the part he played in the Cincinnati riots of 1884 when he went to Cincinnati as second lieutenant of Company E, Fourth Ohio National Guard. At that time he distinguished himself for bravery in the effort to

RECOMMENDATIONS TO BETTER SERVICE IGNORED HE RELATES

Would Have To Go Abroad
For Planes Says Air
Critic

Washington, Nov. 23.—Col. William Mitchell took the stand before his jury of generals today to defend his sensational criticisms of the war and navy departments and deny charges lodged against him by his superiors.

As Mitchell was called to the stand by Rep. Frank R. Reid, Illinois, his counsel, two orderlies carried in a huge box containing Mitchell's 800 pounds of documentary evidence.

Col. Blanton Winship, law member, informed Mitchell that he could remain silent, testify under oath and be cross-examined by the prosecution or make a statement not under oath that will be considered by the court.

After consultation with Reid, Mitchell announced that he desired to testify under oath.

Reid then began questioning Mitchell of his early services in the army. He said he first learned to fly in 1916.

"Did you fly in the war?" Reid asked.

"I went over the lines during all of the major engagements," Mitchell replied.

"Before returning to this country after the war Mitchell said he made exhaustive investigations in France and England into air power.

"From my conversations and studies," Mitchell said, "I am positive that future conflicts between nations will be preceded by two things—intensive activity by submarines and air attacks on the nerve centers of hostile states."

"The army will not be called on the way it has been in the past because in the future it would only function in a slow, laborious fashion that would be costly in the way of lives lost."

"Tell the court if any of the so-called nerve centers were attacked during the world war?" said Reid.

"The cities along the Rhine were just beginning to be bombarded at the close of the war. The small bombardment had a grave effect on the civilian population of these cities."

"Have you made a number of recommendations that were for the good of the service?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have any been put into effect?"

"Very few."

"At the present," Mitchell said, "the U. S. is in the hands of foreign governments when procurements of airplanes is considered."

"If we don't do something to aid the manufacturing industry," Mitchell said, "We will have to go abroad for our planes."

"Does that condition obtain now?"

"Yes, sir."

JOHN COOLIDGE IS NOT OUT OF DANGER

Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 23.—A slight change for the worse in the condition of Col. John C. Coolidge, father of the President, was reported today.

Major James F. Coupal, the White House physician who has been at the Coolidge home since Friday, announced that the Colonel was not as satisfactory today as yesterday.

Dr. Albert M. Cram, the attending physician was expected to call.

While Col. Coolidge had a fairly comfortable night, according to Mrs. May Johnson, his nurse, it has been apparent that the heart block from which he has suffered is giving him more trouble. "The Colonel," it was said had experienced several more "sinking spells."

Major Coupal believed today, however, there was not yet cause for alarm.

CONTESTS IN ORATORY.

ORATORY is not a lost, but a neglected art. Public speakers, after the manner of poets, are both born and made. No matter how naturally gifted one may be his gifts can be perfected only by training and practice. And even a poor or indifferent speaker can be measurably improved in public speech by discipline and perseverance.

Disraeli was howled down when he first attempted to address parliament. But as he took his seat, he warned his jeers that they would some day listen to him with rapt attention. And they did. Bryan, as a youth, had all the fire, but none of the graces of the orator. While others were asking to be relieved from practice in public-speaking, he took extra assignments. In his first contest, he won second place. In the second he came off winner of the prize.

It is regrettable that the oratorical contest does not hold the place in the esteem of college students that it formerly held. Quite apart from one's vocation, the ability to speak with ease and clarity before an audience is a valuable asset.

The age of oratory—real oratory—never passes. The charm of distinctive conversation and of noble eloquence is as enduring as Egyptian pyramids.

CORNERSTONE OF COMMERCE.

THE fire insurance business of today represents the evolution of nearly 260 years and during this long period it has become closely interwoven with the very fabric of the industrial and social life of the world; it is the cornerstone of commerce. In its ramifications, it affects directly and indirectly every individual in the country. It could not be otherwise, in view of the fact that outstanding fire insurance approximates the tremendous sum of $100,000,000,000.

The announcement that fire insurance companies last year paid losses amounting to $470,000,000 is slightly misleading. These losses were not paid by insurance companies but by property owners, for every fire loss is collected in insurance rates.

If American people would only reduce their carelessness, by half, it would mean a great saving in insurance premiums.

FACE THE FACTS.

IT IS A common trait to resent a fact when it conflicts with a preconceived notion. We cherish old ideas as we keep old clothes that ought to be thrown away, and we do not thank the one who takes them from us. Yet in time we come to cherish what we once resisted and make believe that it was our own from the beginning.

In politics or religion it is common to find belief a matter of inheritance rather than conviction. We receive our affiliation with a church or a party as a family legacy. If we find among our juniors a tendency to go off at a tangent and do their own thinking, that challenges the foundations we received and conserved, we are likely to denounce it as a symptom of a restless and a dangerous age.

But it is healthy to ask questions and it is a necessary preliminary to real progress. The arch-foe to the social order is the person or the institution that is unquestionable. In every intellectual matter the absolute dictatorship is impossible if the truth is to be ascertained.

That facts may take effect the mind must be prepared, as land is plowed and harrowed for the sowing of the seed. The capacity of the mind to repel truth often seems to exceed its capacity for receiving instruction, as many an exasperated teacher of "stupid" children is aware. But a thing is not true merely because some one says it. The teacher may be wrong. And the most inspiring teacher, most willingly followed, is not one who insists that all he says is the word of final authority. He leads his pupils in quest of truth, whatever turn the way may take, whatever the journey's end.

In the modern world we need more science, less sentiment rhapsodizing that deals in large, poetic generalities instead of accurate and definite information. It will not do to assume that the reader or hearer represents a low average of intelligence; he may know uncomfortably more of the subject in hand than the one who essays to inform him.

Just Folks

MAKING USE OF A GOSSIP

Miss Genevieve Sieve was a talkative maid. Who scattered her secrets wherever she strayed; She gabbed and she blabbed every tale that she heard, Repeated it all by the line and the word. She carried it back to the party concerned. And always gave out where the story she'd learned.

Now a friend of mine worked for Miss Genevieve's dad. And he needed a raise, but no courage he had. To go in with a grin on his face and demand More coin of the realm for the work of his hand. So, knowing Miss Genevieve Sieve and her ways, I ventured to say I could get him that raise.

That evening I said to Miss Genevieve Sieve: "Don't breathe to a soul this deep secret I give. You know, my friend Joe. Well, an offer he's had. At double the money he gets from your dad. That's promotion he cannot refuse very well. But, remember, you've promised that you wouldn't tell."

The very next morning Miss Genevieve's dad Said to Joe: "I am told a large offer you've had. Now wait, till I state what I'm willing to do. I've decided to double your wages for you. What you're worth to another, I'll pay you, instead."

And Joe gasped his thanks, but he almost fell dead. "How did you work it?" he asked, and I grinned: "Give a gossip the story you'd spread on the wind! Comes the time it's no crime a known falling to use. And a recognized tell-tale will scatter your news. Feed the gossips with fuel. You'll find that it pays! Miss Genevieve Sieve talked you into that raise."

Succotash: Soak one cup of red kidney beans overnight in water to cover and in the morning drain, add more water, a pinch of salt, and pinch of baking soda, and cook till tender—perhaps four hours. Keep them moist by adding more water as necessary. When well cooked, add one can corn, salt and pepper to suit individual liking, let boil up once or twice, and serve hot. (Requested.)

Celery-Ham Toast: (Saturday's breakfast calls for Broiled Slice of Ham. Use the ham-left-overs, chopped, for this dish for Wednesday's lunch.) Sprinkle one cupful (or less) of chopped, cooked ham over buttered slices of crisp toast. Over this turn the following sauce: Scald two cups of milk and thicken it with two tablespoons of flour rubbed to a paste with a little cold water. Season with one-half teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, and add a lump of butter the size of a hickory nut. When smooth, add one cup of diced celery which you have boiled till tender in water to cover, and then drained. This amount of celery sauce will be sufficient for four slices of the ham-spread toast. Serve with the sauce very hot.

Thousand Island Dressing: Use the bottled mayonnaise dressing if desired. To one cupful of it, add five tablespoons of Chile Sauce, one-half red pepper (cooked, with seeds and stem removed) chopped, and one teaspoon of uncooked chopped onion. Spread on the lettuce leaves.

Peanut Purée: Cook together one cupful of peanut butter, one quart of celery seed, and one teaspoon of of sweet milk, a bit of bay leaf, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon finely minced raw onion, in the top of a double boiler till very hot, then thicken with two tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with an extra cup of cold, sweet milk. Continue to cook for ten minutes before serving.

Dumplings for Stew: Mix together either two cups of white bread flour or two cups of wholewheat flour and four teaspoons of baking powder. Add a pinch of salt and, with the fingers, work in one and one-half tablespoons of shortening. Last, add three-quarters of a cup of cold sweet milk and cold water mixed in equal parts. Toss on a floured board, pat to one-half inch in thickness, shape with a biscuit cutter, and place on top of the stew-liquid. Put on a tight-fitting pot cover and do not lift the lid for 12 minutes, during which the dumplings should have steamed to perfection. Serve at once.

resist rioters and witnessed the burning of the Court.

During his early police work, Chief Smith also distinguished himself in numerous encounters with criminals. He staged a running gun fight with a gang of safe blowers on the New Jasper Pike, recovering their equipment. Later he figured in the arrest of two gold brick salesmen, recovering two bricks that are still in the relic case which he started at Police Headquarters.

As a patrolman he arrested John Shea in the old Commercial Hotel here after he attempted to rob the safe at Jacoby's, beating Shea to the ground when he made the arrest. On his first day on the force he worked with Larry Hazen, Cincinnati, celebrated railroad detective, on the investigation of the Trebeins wreck. Two plaster of paris footprints made from prints in a field nearby are preserved in the relic case at Police Headquarters. He also figured in a gun battle with Charles Justice, later sentenced for murder, when he attempted to arrest Justice in a robbery case. Justice was arrested, H. L. Karch, now desk sergeant, taking part in the arrest.

In recognition of his services on the department, Chief Smith was presented a special badge by citizens. The badge was a gold star, engraved with the letters "E. M. S." and "Presented by the citizens of Xenia, May 20, 1898." A diamond weighing more than a carat centered the star.

Chief Smith married Miss Mary Crumbach, who survives him with nine children. They are: Mrs. Russell McPherson, Mrs. Carlton Grieve, Mrs. Edmund Grieve, Mrs. Clement Horner, Leon, Elwood, Misses Ruth, Catherine and Louise.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church, of Xenia Lodge, No. 40, Free and Accepted Masons, Xenia Chapter, No. 36, Royal and Accepted Masons, Xenia Lodge, 668, B. P. O. Elks and Xenia Lodge, I. O. O. F.

The funeral will be at the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with interment in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call any time Tuesday evening.

ADAPTATION

No matter where you meet some people they seem at home. And their friendliness and adaptation to every circumstance makes them wanted.

It isn't always easy to adapt yourself, but it is often very essential.

There is sense and sound philosophy in the old phrase: "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." For if you do this, the Romans are at once disarmed of all criticism that they might have ready to deliver to you. People live fairly happily with those of their kind. And just as soon as you adapt yourself to your surroundings, home feelings start.

If you have schooled yourself to privations, to all sorts of discouragements, to the loss of friends whom you have trusted and thought true, to the acceptance of any and all of life's responsibilities, there isn't very much in this world that isn't yours!

He who is able to quickly adapt himself is really one of the owners of the earth.

One of the curses of character is that spirit of complaint and whining that so often creeps up on people and tells them to stop working, to merely hold their hands and expect everything for nothing.

The very first sentences of the Bible are extraordinarily inspiring. They tell of building. "In the beginning"—these are the words—"God created."

The man who adapts himself to his surroundings and his circumstances always creates, always lifts up those about him and grows to himself.

Adaptation is melting your own thoughts and actions into those of the rest of the world—thereby moving with it.

Be the person you are no matter where you are, but adapt all that you are to the comfort, well-being and happiness of those with whom you are.

MODISH MITZI—Did You Send One Of These Envelopes?

The postman has a wild look in his eye and who can blame him? There's something fishy about all this, he thinks. Maybe the lady is running a matrimonial agency or a mailorder business. Anyway, he's going to get himself transferred to another route and that's that! His astonishment is nothing compared to Mitzi's, though. In fact before sitting down to consider these name suggestions for her new floppy doll Mitzi has found it necessary to bolster up her morale by putting on this new dress with its double jabot and wide sleeves (just to be different!)

In fact before sitting down to consider these name suggestions for her new floppy doll Mitzi has found it necessary to bolster up her morale by putting on this new dress with its double jabot and wide sleeves (just to be different!)

Aunt Sophia is suggesting that perhaps if Mitzi had gone to business college and learned double entry bookkeeping, or accounting, or making out income tax reports, she wouldn't feel so helpless now. Aunt Sophia looks ready for anything because her suit dress of velvet is the smartest possible. It is all in one piece in the back and only the front of the bodice is cut to look like a coat and has an undervest of silk that matches the coat border. Meantime the doll sits in a corner feeling like a spanked orphan and no one has found a name for her at all. Send your suggestions to Mitzi in care of this paper.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

Old Pipe,
for

SIX months ago, Old Pipe, we were headed for absolute divorce. We were wrecked on the twin rocks of Tongue Bite and Throat Parch. I tried tobacco after tobacco. Then . . . I found Prince Albert!

Today, Old Pipe, you're closer to me than a tattooed anchor. P. A. made you sweet and cool as the wind from a laden orchard. P. A. led me out of the hot-pipe desert into the pleasant valley of contented smokers. Comfort fell upon me . . . and it was welcome as rain to a dusty frog.

Say good-bye to worry, you fellows who don't yet know the joys of a jimmy-pipe and P. A. Tell gloom to be on its way. Your first fragrant pipeful will give you a 99-year lease on happiness. Prince Albert is the mildest, sweetest, kindest smoke mortal man ever knew.

Prince Albert gives you a lot more for your money in quantity as well as quality. There are TWO full ounces in every tin of P. A. The U. S. revenue stamp shows you that. Make a break now for the nearest shop where they hand out pipe-peace in tidy red tins.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidor, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Look at the U. S. revenue stamp—there are TWO full ounces in every tin.

—no other tobacco is like it!

BRINGING UP FATHER

OSBORN INDIANS GET TOUCHDOWN THAT GIVES TILTONS FIRST LOSS

Osborn Indians forward passed and rushed their way to a touchdown in the second quarter and a 6 to 0 defeat over the previously undefeated Tiltons Thirty-Three in the second game of the series for the football championship of Greene County Sunday afternoon at Cincinnati Avenue Park. The first of the series ended in a scoreless tie two weeks ago and the Sunday victory gives the Indians claim to the title.

It was the first reverse the Tiltons had suffered this season. The teams had battled evenly throughout the initial period, but scarcely had the second quarter opened, when a 27 yard pass, Bergman to Moll, gave Osborn the ball inside the Tiltons' fifteen yard mark. Three thrusts at the line by Moll and the lanky half went over for a touchdown. Moll fumbled his center's pass and a swarm of Tilton tacklers prevented his try for extra point.

With the exception of the part of the second period and toward the law of the fourth quarter, the Indians were outplayed in all departments. The locals outkicked, outrushed and outmaneuvered the Indians, but lost innumerable chances to score through inability to gain ground after once gaining to a point inside the visitor's twenty yard line.

Time after time when it was in danger of being scored upon, the Osborn line held like a stone wall and was impregnable.

The contest opened with an exchange of punts and the locals got an opportunity to score after three minutes of play when a poor punt gave the Tiltons the ball on the Indian twenty-five yard line. Boxwell and "Atlas" Smith reeled off two successive first downs on line smashes. With first down and the ball on the five yard line, two Tilton backs were hurled back without gain and a forward pass was incomplete in the end zone.

Aided by a stiff wind, the Indians began to punt at every opportunity hoping for either a fumble or poor Tilton kick to pave the way for a score. The opportunity came as the second period began when Moll made a beautiful seventy yard punt to Boxwell. Boxwell immediately retaliated with another which the wind caught and blew back.

The initial score came when, having obtained the ball well within Tilton territory, Bergman, powerful Indian quarter, ran a short distance and made a beautiful throw to Moll, who had rushed up-field, and the Indian ran to the Tilton twelve-yard line before he was downed. Moll punted the line for the Tiltons, and finally went over for the score. Boxwell made a wonderful thirty-five yard return of the kickoff as the half ended.

At the opening of the third quarter the Thirty-threes, with the wind at their back, began to punt in the hope of gaining the ground depleted them on straight football. Boxwell easily gained steadily on each exchange of punts with his opponent.

When these gains had driven the Indians well into their own territory, the Tilton backs struck viciously at the line and with a bewildering attack, carried the ball to the twenty yard mark aided by a twenty-yard pass, Boxwell to D. Fuller. Here the Indians held firmly again and Osborn received the line for the ball on downs as the period ended.

A recovered fumble gave the Tiltons their last opportunity to score toward the close of the game. Smith plunged and crawled his way to a first down on the twenty yard mark but the Indian line again held and Moll punted out of danger.

In the last five minutes of play the Indians worked the ball to the Tilton thirty yard mark and Wassenich twice failed in attempts to score a field goal on drop kicks from the forty yard line. The first attempt fell shy about five yards, while the second was wide by a few feet.

The Tiltons launched a desperate air attack in the closing moments and gained two first downs on long passes to the Fuller brothers as the game ended.

The Tiltons' lineup for the game was not as strong as in other contests this season. Tullis, giant center, was missing from the lineup. Quarterback Stephen also watched the game from the sidelines. On the other hand the visitors were strengthened by the addition of five members of the Lauber Clothes team.

"Atlas" Smith, was as usual, a tower of strength. He showed remarkable ability in line plunging, frequently carrying several Osborn tacklers from one to three yards before he was finally swept from his feet. Boxwell was also an offensive and defensive star, following interference, returning punts and finding holes in the line with remarkable skill.

Paul Fuller played a fine defensive game and his tackling was a feature. D. Fuller figured prominently in the forward passing while Boxwell's long spiral heaves down the field at times reached the proportions of a kick.

For Osborn, Moll was undoubtedly the star from an offensive standpoint. Bergman, the new Osborn quarter, handled his team cleverly and selected plays with better than ordinary judgment.

A large number of fans braved the biting cold weather to see the game and were rewarded by one of the best exhibitions of the season.

Unless a game is booked away from home, the game Sunday closed the season for the Tiltons. Manager Harold Dice wants bills submitted to him at once, because of this arrangement.

Capital Beats Cedarville

KATHERMAN CREW IS VICTORIOUS AFTER SINGLE TOUCHDOWN

A stubborn, tenacious Cedarville College defense threw a scare in to Coach Jerry L. Katherman's Capital University gang at Cox Memorial Field Saturday afternoon and then cracked once only long enough to permit the Lutherans to score a single touchdown and win 6 to 0.

For three periods Captain Stoiz and his playmates fought bitterly against a team known to have a scoring attack sufficient to beat Western Reserve, and for that many periods Cedarville managed to repulse the invaders, frequently with its back to the wall.

It was heady strategy on the part of Quarterback Bernlohr, Katherman's backfield ace, who was lame from an ankle injury received in the fifth play of the game, that finally broke the ice for the Lutherans. Bernlohr found himself kicking with his back to the wind in the second quarter and began to boot the leather on first down.

His strategy was to place the oval far in Cedarville territory where Larry Currie's superb punts would be ineffectual to recover the territory against the wind. Capital then hoped to block a punt deep in Cedarville territory. The system failed to produce results in the second quarter but as the third period opened Bernlohr continued his plan of action.

Currie opened the half by kicking off to Katherman on Capital's 39. Katty made ten around left end but Capital was penalized fifteen yards for holding. Bernlohr punted to Adair on Cedarville's 5 yard line. Adair fumbled but recovered on the first play. Cedarville was penalized fifteen yards for pushing. Currie picked up two and then punted. Katty touched the ball and Townsend recovered on Capital's 25 yard line for Cedarville. Adair made three at right end but two passes were grounded. Currie's attempt to drop kick was slightly wide of the posts.

Taking the ball on the 20, Prange picked up five but Knauber was stopped and Katty got but two. Bernlohr punted to Adair on Cedarville's ten yard line. Adair and Currie got but two apiece. Currie then dropped back to punt from within his own ten yard line. Sheatsley was through the line like a flash and blocked the kick which bounded high into the path of Captain Ed Prange, who played defensive tackle. Prange downed the oval for the only touchdown.

Bernlohr lost the chance to kick the extra point when Prange fumbled the toss from center. Prange attempted to run the extra point over free that position but was tackled. Capital was back knocking at Cedarville's door in the final period but lacked a scoring punch. Katherman intercepted a Cedarville pass on the Lutherans' own 27 yard line and two penalties and an end run by Katty gave the Lutherans three first downs. Bernlohr's attempted place kick from the 25 was wide of the mark. Konert recovered a Cedarville fumble shortly afterward but the game ended before another field goal attempt could be staged.

The educated toe of Larry Currie, crack Cedarville fullback, came within inches of picking up points for Cedarville on three occasions. His first shot came shortly after the start of second quarter. Bernlohr attempted a punt from Capital's 27 and Rockhold broke through and blocked the oval, picked up the bouncing ball and was headed for the goal when he was dragged down from behind on Capital's 12 yard line. Cedarville unfortunately, could not capitalize on this chance.

When Orr, Currie and Adair could get but two yards apiece, Currie attempted a drop kick that was wide of its mark. Currie's next attempt came in the third period after Cedarville recovered its own kick on Capital's 28 as already described. The third effort was made shortly after the start of the fourth quarter. A bac kick by Bernlohr gave Cedarville possession of the oval on Capital's 20 Orr and Currie made three yards and a pass grounded. Currie then missed his third drop kick attempt.

Fans were cheated of an opportunity to see some fast end-running when Bernlohr of the Columbus team hurt his ankle. He left the burden of ball totting to his mates after the injury and Prange and Katherman were not spectacular. Bernlohr's punting was still a big factor however, in spite of the injury.

Adair, Cedarville flash, sparked once or twice with his unusual speed, once in the first quarter when he returned one of Bernlohr's punts thirty yards. Capital flankers kept him well smothered on the majority of plays from scrimmage however.

Statistics show Capital made eight first downs to Cedarville's two. The Lutherans got four first downs in each half, while Cedarville obtained both first downs in the last half, one in each period. The first game when Adair negotiated right end for ten yards near the close of the third quarter and the second was made on a pass, Currie to Adair, that gained thirteen yards.

Cedarville excelled at the overhead game, attempting eight passes and making three of them good for twenty eight yards. One was intercepted and four were grounded. Peters, Xenia boy, was on the receiving end of two. Capital attempted only three passes, all of which were grounded. Cedarville also suffered worst from penalties, being penalized eight times for seventy yards while the Lutherans were penalized four times for fifty yards.

Larry Currie, Adair, Rockhold and Townsend sparked for Coach Tullis footballers while Bernlohr and Prange were easy aces for the Columbus tribe. Coach Katherman said injuries to Ted Drewes and Bernlohr and overconfidence handicapped his team.

The victory closed Capital's season with four victories, three defeats and one tie game. Lineup and summary:

Several prominent managers, when they heard of his threat, let out a large laugh. "He can't do it," they said. "He's got $5,000,000 tied up in the new Garden and boxing will have to pay most of the freight."

Rickard insists that he can pass up boxing as a weekly feature and get along just as well with only four of five big shows a season.

"We have been making more money out of two six-day bike races a season than all the boxing matches put together," Rickard said.

"We have had more applications for boxing dates this winter than the calendar can accommodate, and the returns, considering the investment and the expense, are much higher in proportion. We want it understood that the New Garden is by no means a boxing palace. There are a dozen ways in which we can make up for the little revenue that has been coming from boxing."

Rickard ran three outdoor shows last summer and only one—the Milk Fund benefit—made any money.

Jimmy Slattery and Berlenbach drew $100,000 and Dave Shade and Mickey Walker drew $150,000 and yet Rickard says he lost $35,000 on the two shows.

"I'm through with staging benefits for boxers," he said. "They'll have to give me a chance to make some money for my time and trouble and the risks involved, or I'll get out of the game."

State Forty and Eight Society will stage a Thanksgiving entertainment and party for the pupils of the O. S. and S. O. Home, at the Institution Saturday, it was announced Monday.

Nature of the program has not been divulged to Colonel and Mrs. T. E. Andrews, superintendent and matron of the Home. The party is an annual event, sponsored by the Forty and Eight Society and it is expected each ward of the state will receive a gift from the organization.

Professional vaudeville entertainers and talent taken from the society have been engaged to stage the program, it is said.

Colonel and Mrs. Andrews will entertain members of the Forty and Eight at a banquet, at the home sometime during the day. Following the party, the Grand Volture will have its quarterly meeting at Dayton.

E. A. Shearer, Marietta, granilo chef de garo, will preside over the latter meeting and state officers will be in attendance.

Ann Luther, wife of Ed Gallagher, of the vaudeville team of Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean, is to sail for Europe with a Paris divorce as her objective. Gallagher is said to have suffered a mental collapse after his act had been labeled "unique and extraordinary" in a decision of the Supreme Court.

Wilbur Miller, this city, was fined $10 and costs for intoxication by Judge Smith in Police Court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty. He was arrested Sunday morning by Patrolmen George Spencer and George Robinson.

Two motorists were arrested over the week-end by Motorcycle Police-man Peter Shagin for traffic violations. C. L. Thompson, charged with speeding, was fined $5 and costs, and Lawrence Weekly was fined $240, the costs, by Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court for running past a stop light.

DRUNK FINED

Wilbur Miller, this city, was fined $10 and costs for intoxication by Judge Smith in Police Court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty. He was arrested Sunday morning by Patrolmen George Spencer and George Robinson.

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY
TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore was to announce her engagement tonight at Aunt Celimena's Connecticut home but, instead, she garbed herself as a nun and disappeared. Hailing David Lacy, who was passing, they drove to the Sound and crossed it together. After driving to the other shore of Long Island, they find themselves aboard a yacht with Poach, Doc, McTish and Sweetie, all strangers to them. There is much talk of bootleggers and pursuits by revenue officers.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

Connemara was obedient, and watched Sweetie, fascinated, as the girl shook out the ample breadths of the nun's robe. "Lot's of stuff here! even if it is kinda ragged out. Listen—I'm going to cut you a new dress, a one-piece slip, and sew it together so you'll look human. You can't go round here with all this mess flapping round your feet, specially when you got such good looking feet. Lemme hold this up to you. Gee, you certainly got swell underclo'es."

She held the stuff against Connemara, and then hacked away at it boldly. She seized the needle and thread, and made stitches so swift that Connemara's eyes could not follow them. She was fiercely concentrated and did not speak, except once, to murmur, "Gee, this brings back the days at Madame's."

Connemara, watching her, realized that Sweetie was really a very pretty girl, and that with her bold bandit manner laid aside she was rather a nice one with considerable strength of character in her features.

It took Sweetie hardly half an hour to do her work. She stood up and slipped the garment she had made over Connemara's head. She tore off a long strip of the stuff that was left and tied it deftly about her waist. "Course I haven't hemmed it, but fringe around the bottom of the skirt is good enough style. And it ain't got sleeves, but that's style too. And believe me, girlie, the sewing ain't any worse than lots I've seen in French models. Say, you look swell! honest you do. I always was the one to get good lines, if I do say it myself."

Connemara craned her neck at her reflection in the little mirror. The dress in the essentials was exactly like many others hung in her wardrobe at home, a sleeveless one-piece slip, with a simple tie belt. "Pretty nifty, eh?" said Sweetie. "I'll tell the world it is. Say, you and me—we look like a high-class boating party now. This shingle bob of mine goes grand with my pants."

Shingle bob! At the words Connemara turned and looked at her companion, her eyes distended—it might have been with fear, or perhaps merely excitement. Her hair—it must be hidden. But how? Sudden decision seized her. She stooped and gathered up the remains of her nun's costume, and tore another strip off it.

"I need a hat to go with my dress," she said briefly. "Look—a woman in Paris showed me how to make a turban right on your head. She used tulle, but this will do." Deftly and carefully she folded the strip of white stuff. Deftly and carefully she bound it round her head with a clever twist over in the front that gave it character and shape. "It's on the same principle that the Hindus wind their turbans," she explained, not remembering that Sweetie's knowledge of Hindus and their turbans was probably nil. The little box that had held the sewing materials yielded several big pins, regular man's size spikes of pins. Connemara tucked the ends of the strip under at the side and secured them with two of these pins. A pin on the other side, and one in front held the rest of the turban perfectly taut and trim.

"There," she said to Sweetie. "what do you think of it?"

Sweetie was moved to genuine admiration. "Kid, you're there!" she exclaimed. "If you didn't get into a strong light, anybody's say you looked like a million dollars. That's the niftiest bonnet I've seen in a thousand years. Show me how to do that trick sometime, will you?"

"I certainly will," said Connemara. "The best of this is it hides my hair completely, and that's what I want. There's a reason, Sweetie, and though it seems remote now, during a night like this I feel that I must prepare for any contingency. But I haven't thanked you for making my dress. It's a wonderful dress, Sweetie, and you're the cleverest girl I ever met. And oh, how different I feel with it on!"

"To say nothing of how wonderful you look," added Sweetie. "Say, take a piece of the left-over goods and use it for a scarf. A scarf's all you need to make you right up to the minute and a couple seconds beyond."

She rummaged through the wreckage of the nun's costume once more. "There musta been twenty yards of goods in this rig," she exclaimed. "Lucky there was too. Here, how's this?" She brought out a long piece and laid it over Connemara's shoulders. "Throw it round your neck sort of swell and careless. That's the idea. Well, come on, let's go and see what the babies on deck are up to. I'll bet their eyes will pop when they see us. Pants to give you such a good free feeling—I wisht women never wore skirts."

They came out of the bunk room into the dimness of the deck, and as they did so David Lacy came forward.

"I've missed your sweet society, dear ladies, very much," he started to say, and then his voice sharpened to amazement. He was staring at Connemara, metamorphosed from a nun into a modern girl, white frock, white turban, white scarf. "Why," he exclaimed breathlessly, "why—you are—you are—I did see you at Auteuil—I could swear—but no, it's too fantastic—"

He broke off, aware that the girl was staring past him with puzzled eyes.

"What's the matter with that little light on the mast?" she asked. "It's been giving the queerest flashes for the last two minutes—long and short ones like somebody signaling."

CHAPTER X

Robert Eugene Anderson
By Robert Gordon Anderson

"Flashes from the masthead!" Lacy's words were half startled ejaculation, half question, his glance following the direction of hers.

Sure enough, the lantern winked once, then relapsed into its usual fixed white stare. The signaling, if signaling it was, had ceased.

Perplexed, for he had never rigged up any such outfit on his boat, he looked around for the cause. McTish was again bending over his engine; Poach and Doc were still lying hog-tied, forward. But not Doc had moved from his position—undoubtedly by rolling—several widths of him, aft to the heel of the mast.

"Didn't I tell you to stay where you were put?" Lacy demanded of the recumbent Doc, and tried to prod him away. Doc, however, proved stubborn, and the young man drew back his leg in that arc which Charley O'Hearn—and the reporters—so gracefully describe, when he tries for goal in the Yale Bowl. But apparently the beauty of that line from heel to hip had no charms for Doc. Under its threat he moved reluctantly, and Lacy, bending over, discovered a button sunk a little below the level of the deck so that no passing heel could depress it.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine ever used.
Family supply easily made.
Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
